- Medical Schools in GA
 - Application and Timeline
 - Admission Requirements
 - MCAT
 - Choosing a major
 - Volunteering/Shadowing
 - Research
 - Letters of Evaluation

What should I major in?

- Major does not matter!
 - Biology (or other science majors) are just more convenient.
 - Pre-med is not a major.
- Challenge yourself, take a full-load (15/16+ hours per semester), and pursue things that interest you.
- Overall GPA vs. Science GPA
 - Medical Science GPA = Biology, Chemistry, Physics, Math (BCPM)

Medical School Admission Requirements

- Always double-check with schools you are interested in!
 - Requirements can change year-to-year

General Medical School Requirements
Biology	BIOL 1107/L and BIOL 1108/L
General Chemistry	CHEM 1211/L and CHEM 1212/L
Organic Chemistry	CHEM 2211/L and CHEM 2212/L
Biochemistry	BCMB 3100
Physics	PHYS 1111/L and PHYS 1112/L or PHYS 1211/L and PHYS 1212/L
Statistics	STAT 2000 or BIOS 2010
Misc. Recommended	PSYC 1101, SOCI 1101, MATH 2250, GENE 3200, VPHY 3100, CBIO 3400

Is AP credit accepted?

- Check with each institution to which you believe you will apply to see if they accept AP credit.
- MCG does not accept AP credit for Biology or Chemistry
 - If you have AP credit, you will need to take upper-level courses as substitute.

What is the MCAT?

- MCAT is the test you'll need to apply to medical school
- MCAT contains 4 sections:
 1. Biological and Biochemical Foundations of Living Systems
 2. Chemical and Physical Foundations of Biological Systems
 3. Critical Analysis and Reasoning Skills (CARS)
 4. Psychological, Social, and Biological Foundations of Behavior
- MCAT scores range 472-528
 - Each section is scored 118-132
 - A score of 500 is ~50th percentile
- The length of the MCAT is now ~7½ hours.

What courses are needed before the MCAT?

▪ Required Pre-MCAT

- Biology: BIOL 1107/L and BIOL 1108/L
- Chemistry: CHEM 1211/L and CHEM 1212/L
- Organic Chemistry: CHEM 2211/L
- Biochemistry: BCMB 3100 or BCMB 4020
- Physics: PHYS 1111 and PHYS 1112 or PHYS 1211/L & 1212/L

▪ Recommended Pre-MCAT

- Physiology (VPHY 3100, PMCY 3000, CBIO 3710), GENE 3200, STAT 2000 or BIOS 2010, PSYC 1101, SOCI 1101, and English/Literature
- You can study for the MCAT on your own or take a MCAT prep-course
 - Key is to make a study plan and take several practice tests!

Core Competencies

- Medical schools have placed an increased focus on whether an applicant is competent in several key areas.
 - Competencies speak to personal qualities that define an applicant, rather than focusing solely on grades and test scores.
 - Evidence for each competency should be reflected in the activities you've engaged in while at UGA.
- The AAMC Core Competencies include:
 - Interpersonal Competencies: The skills dealing with how you interact with others.
 - Intrapersonal Competencies: The attitudes and qualities unique within you as an individual.
 - Thinking & Reasoning Competencies: The ability to reason and use your thought processes to form conclusions, inferences, or judgments.
 - Science Competencies: The knowledge and academic proficiency necessary for managing science content present in medicine.

Shadowing

- Shadowing involves observing physicians providing care to patients.
 - Exposure to “doctor-patient” interaction
 - Experience reality of being a doctor/dentist—not always about healing or curing!
- No minimum number of hours for med schools, but >100 is a good benchmark. Variety is encouraged.
- Start with your family physician, if possible.
 - Connect with campus clubs, they can point you in right direction.
- Do not engage in activity that could be considered practice of medicine!
 - Especially important for medical mission trips and abroad experiences.

Volunteering

- Volunteering involves doing good work and giving back to your community.
 - You want to be a doctor to help people? Well, how have you so far?
- Volunteer experiences do not have to be medical!
- No minimum hours, simply show consistent level of commitment.
 - Find something where you're helping regularly, not just one-offs.
 - Follow your passion!
- Keep record of experiences.
 - Dates, location, who you worked with, what you did, etc.
 - You will not be able to simply upload a resume to the application.

Leadership

- Get involved in student organizations!
 - Medical schools like applicants who stay busy outside of class.
- Attending meetings is helpful but look for leadership opportunities.
- Check these out:
 - American Medical Student Association (AMSA)
 - Alpha Epsilon Delta Pre-Medical Honor Society (AED)
 - Women in Science (WiSci)
 - Minority Student Science Association (MSSA)
 - MED-LIFE @ UGA
 - Whatever It Takes (WIT)

Research

- Research is recommended for med school but not required.
 - Can do it for course credit, for pay, or as a volunteer.
 - Very important for dual-degree programs (e.g., MD/PhD)
- Only do research if you're interested in it.
- Does not have to be medical or translational!
- Search UGA departmental websites for possible research mentors.
 - Email professors detailing who you are and that you're interested in their work.
 - Ask about current projects.

Summer Internships and Opportunities

- Start researching programs early.
 - Most deadlines are in February and March.
 - Google “summer program” and the name of the institution you’re interested in.
- Does not have to be strictly medical—could be research intensive.
- Augusta University (MCG) hosts STAR and SEEP summer programs.

 - Must be a freshman or sophomore

Letters of Evaluation for Medical School

- Need at least three letters:
 - 2 hard science professors
 - 1 non-science professor
 - 1 physician
 - Additional letters from another academic professional, physician, supervisor, or someone who knows the you well enough to speak positively on the your behalf.
- Letters should come from people who know you!
 - Will need to describe you as an individual—behavior, character traits, maturity-level, etc.
